ABOUT

I am an individual who constantly seeks learning and development, which is precisely what drew me to the IT industry. Cause the IT sector is dynamic and ever-evolving. In addition to formal education at university, I place great importance on self-learning and project work. I've worked on many projects by myself, all available on my GitHub profile and I'm especially excited about real-world projects and working together in a team.

PROJECTS

- Project Management System
  - Developed a robust project management system with features for tracking work hours, task management, and user attendance monitoring
- Multiplayer Tic-tac-toe
  - Game with multiplayer mode and single-player option, created to showcase backend development skills with sockets.
- "Friends & Chat"
  - Basic social networking platform allowing profile creation, friend adding, and real-time conversations.
- Weather forecast app
  - App demonstrating skills in fetching and displaying weather forecast data effectively.
